

Maltese Shape

Potter Shape Name: Maltese Shape

Circa: 1850s

Shape Characteristics

Body

Downward Ogee

Handle

C-Shape with Thumb Rest

Finial

Finial ' Loop and Strap Finial

Notes

D. Chetwynd modeled this shape and registered it October 25, 1855. Potters were permitted to name their products and Edward Corn called his Maltese Shape. Edward Pearson named his Mississippi Shape. Most potters named it Baltic Shape and it was produced as Baltic Shape by G. Bowers, G. Wooliscroft, John Meir & Son, Edward Challinor, T. Hulme and Elsmore & Forster.

Enlarge Image

Associated Images

Potters Who Made This Shape

Image not available.
If you have an image you would like to suggest
please complete this form.

Chetwynd, D. (Modeler)
 preview

Corn, Edward

Kew Registrations

Oct 25, 1855

 preview